Our guests from Antony were treated to a whirlwind of activities thanks to the hard work of the Antony Sister City Association working group of the Lexington Tourism committee chaired by Dawn McKenna. The group is dedicated to promoting good will, friendship, and a municipal and cultural exchange between Lexington and Antony, France. All expenses were paid by the proceeds of a successful Valentine's Day wine, cheese, and chocolate tasting and auction. Several officials from Antony, France visited Lexington including the Mayor, the Deputy Mayor, the Minister of Education, the Minister of Elder Services and a police officer from Paris. Activities included a breakfast with the Selectmen and Town Manager at Cary Library, a tour of the State House hosted by Rep. Jay Kaufman and trips to the Freedom Trail in Boston, Harvard University, and the historic sites of Concord and Lexington — all of these in both French and English. Guests attended a special reception at the Lexington Arts and Crafts Society with a presentation by Antony artist Francoise Delacroix. Several of our French guests even made it to a Red Sox game! A special dedication was made of the new "Antony Park" which is at the far corner of Tower Park. A special cake was created by Michelle Ryan of Cake. Events were held in several Lexington business including Lexx, Palio's and Aloft Hotel.
